Investment objective and strategy

The investment policy of the Sygnia Itrix FTSE 100 ETF is to track the benchmark FTSE 100 Index as closely as possible, buying only FTSE 100 securities, which are excluded from the index from time to time as a result of quarterly index reviews, corporate actions or are sold to ensure the portfolio holds FTSE 100 securities in the same weighting as the benchmark. This high-risk, passively managed index-tracking fund aims to replicate the price and yield performance of the FTSE 100 Index by holding a portfolio of securities equivalent to the basket of securities comprising the index. Index performance data can be sourced from Bloomberg, Reuters, other data providers and at www.sygnia.co.za.

Risk profile

The fund has a 100% strategic allocation to UK equities. The risk in the fund is managed by spreading investments across sectors and individual shares, but the structure of the fund is dictated by the composition of the FTSE 100 Index. The focus on a high-dividend stream and mid- to large-cap companies provides an added benefit in terms of risk management.

Who should invest?

The Sygnia Itrix FTSE 100 ETF has a high risk profile and targets an overall 100% allocation to a concentrated selection of the 100 largest UK-domiciled blue chip companies. It is a suitable investment for investors seeking higher returns, those willing to tolerate higher volatility and those aiming to maximise capital accumulation over the longer term. The investment is also suitable for investors who wish to maximise their returns in the most cost-effective manner without having to select asset managers or take on the risk of active and subjective investment decision-making processes. Given the specialist nature of the fund, it should be used as part of a diversified investment strategy rather than as a sole equity investment.

TCs should not be considered in isolation, as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time, including market returns, the type of financial product, the investment decisions of the investment manager and the TER.
